For over 40 years TCC Printing has

We print with soy and vegetable based inks and use

low VOC solvents for clean up. We have never used any disposable towels during the ink cleaning process of our printing presses. We use only cloth wipers, which are laundered. The waste that is recovered is turned into an inert by-product that is legally disposed of by the laundry company. We've recycled all our paper waste, film and aluminum plates for over thirty years. Our left over inks are stored for future printing in a library that we created, and the inks and spent solvents that are not fit for future use are recycled and turned into fuel by a local federally controlled company. We even purchase our solvents in 55-gallon barrels so that we can recycle those containers; the smaller 5-gallon containers are not recyclable. Our office and copy departments recycle all inkjet, laser and toner cartridges. Even our old computers and monitors are recycled at the local pc recycling store. As you can see we are committed to keeping used products out of our landfills by doing everything in our power to reduce, reuse and recycle.

been an environmentally proactive company.
